

Kiwanis Club of Madison West

KIWANOGRAM

Guests: Jillian Meissner, a Kiwanian who has moved to Madison from Denver where she was a member of the Denver Tech Center Kiwanis, an applicant for membership. Mary Lou Reisch and Jane Koval, guests of Ed Reisch; Lily Jenson, guest of Mary Mennes (grandmother); Jim Sheridan, guest of Tom McCrill; and Diane Stumpf, guest of Chuck.

Program: Mike Koval, Madison Chief of Police, described many law enforcement issues faced by Madison communities and Madison police. Two of the leading crimes in neighborhood communities are theft from autos and home burglaries. Items of most interest are transportable and bartable.

Chief Koval suggested the following that each us can do to make our communities safer:

1. Lock your cars when unattended,
2. Lock your house doors,
3. Do not leave garage doors open and garages unattended,
4. Cutoff mail and paper delivery when gone.
5. Keep outdoor lights on.
6. Keep neighbors informed-be respectful but a little nosy,
7. Report any suspicion activity to police and
8. Call district when gone for more than a week

Dwayne Rohweder, Marv Beatty and Ed Reisch visiting with Chief Koval.
