2. Check to see if there are any Weekend Food Pack groups already operating in your area.
3. If so, check with them to see what specific food items they would like donated.
4. Collect specific individual size food items to donate; such as, cans of pasta with meat, individual fruit cups, granola bars, peanut butter crackers etc.
5. Do a food drive for Mid-Year with those individually packaged items and bring them to Mid-Year. They will then be distributed to local programs. More details will come soon.
6. If there is a program in the area see if you can help pack the bags.
7. If you cannot find or start a Week End Food program for students, have a food drive and donate to a local food bank.
