ANNOUNCEMENTS

Barb Broshous and crew welcomed our new members, Al Fritz and Brian Damerath. They were each given a Certificate of Membership, Kiwanis hat and pin, and a promise that their nametags are on the way. Al said it was a pleasure to be part of this group again, and as his Dad used to say when he was able to be part of an august group such as ours, "I'm looking forward to having my character built up by being associated with you." He looks forward to being a member of the club for a long time. Brian said he is looking forward to being part of this group and contributing back to the community. A warm welcome to you both!

Bonnie Nasser's character portrait photos are available. Let her know and she will email them to you - suitable for printing and framing!

Paul Short sought out a volunteer from each table (especially from the Generals' ranks) to assist the morning greeter when we have guests. Paul handed out a Snicker's bar to each of the volunteers. As a good General, Tony Trifeletti delegated his duties to RF Smith...

Rich Rima had two Happy Bucks: 1) To introduce a collection box on the stage to collect items for use by Tri-Lakes Cares for Snack Packs. Snack Packs go to kids that need a meal after school or on weekends. The Prairie Winds Elementary School K-Kids collecting food for the Snack Packs and we can help! Buy stuff, bring it to the meetings, put it in the box. It will get to the K-Kids and then to Tri-Lakes Cares. Items required and suitable include, but are not limited to, the following, all sealed in single-serve packages: Applesauce Cups, Fruit Cups, Veggie Straws, Granola Bars, Cheese or Peanut Butter Crackers, Pretzels, Pudding or Jello Cups, Single Serve Cereal Boxes, Nut Packets, Peanut Butter, Raisins or Other Fruit Snacks, Small Individual Chip Bags, Trail Mix Packs, Goldfish Packets - Joe Dague and Max Williams weighed in to support this effort; and 2) Advising us the US Government is replacing all current Medicare Cards with cards that will not reveal Social Security numbers. However, this will take a full year to complete (April 2018 to April 2019). In the meantime, don't fall prey to scammers trying to sell you a temporary card.

Bill Frier was happy for his brother Jim who is 99 and served most of WWII in the South Pacific. While on Guam, Jim pulled two aviators from a crashed B24 full of bombs and in flames. He was subsequently awarded the Soldier's medal for his bravery. Bill sent a salute to his brother for the family and the nation.

Dennis Beasley was happy to be with us after his recent surgery, and for the Air Force hockey team that defeated No. 1 St. Cloud State, 4-1, at the NCAA West Regional tournament, advancing to the finals.

prepared for the answer. In a trial, a Southern small-town prosecuting attorney called his first witness, a grandmotherly, elderly woman to the stand. He approached her and asked, "Mrs. Jones, do you know me?"

She responded, "Why, yes, I do know you, Mr. Williams. I've known you since you were a young boy, and frankly, you've been a big disappointment to me. You lie, you cheat on your wife, and you manipulate people and talk about them behind their backs. You think you're a big shot when you haven't the brains to realize you never will amount to anything more than a two-bit paper pusher. Yes, I know you."

The lawyer was stunned! Not knowing what else to do, he pointed across the room and asked, "Mrs. Jones, do you know the defense attorney?"

She again replied, "Why, yes, I do. I've known Mr. Bradley since he was a youngster, too. He's lazy, bigoted, and he has a drinking problem. He can't build a normal relationship with anyone and his law practice is one

In February 2018, John Spidell embarked on the National Geographic ship Explorer for a two week expedition to Antarctica. National Geographic offers at least six such expeditions to the public each year (www.nationalgeographicexpeditions.com/expeditions/antarctica-cruise/detail). John's trip started with flights from Denver to Dallas and then to Buenos Aires. From Buenos Aires, John hopped a commuter flight to Ushuaia, Argentina, the southernmost city in the world. In Ushuaia, John and his 140 or so newest friends boarded the Explorer for the first leg of their trip to Antarctica.

Leaving their little corner of Argentina, the Explorer transited the Beagle Channel and then out into the open sea for the 700 mile "cruise" across the Drake Passage to the Nordenskjold Coast. John described the passage as 36 hours of rocking and rolling-good thing his doctor had plied him with plenty of pharmaceutical remedies for seasickness. Even though the dishes were occasionally knocked to the floor, everyone survived the passage without significant casualty. John showed us a 30 minute video with some spectacular scenery, wildlife activity, and adventure.

of the worst in the entire state. Not to mention he cheated on his wife with three different women. One of them was your wife. Yes, I know him."

The defense attorney almost died.

The judge asked both counselors to approach the bench and, in a very quiet voice, said, "If either of you idiots asks her if she knows me, I'll send you to the electric chair."

Aboard his ship were 18 naturalists, photographers, and writers from National Geographic along with the paying customers. This wealth of expertise enriched the experience for all aboard. At their first stop, they made the acquaintance of a large group of penguins who, having no particular reason to fear humans, displayed their curiosity up close and personal (keep those fishy looking fingers in your pockets!!). There, they also witnessed the natural order of things as the large skuas and petrels (4-5' wingspans) made a lunch of unfortunate penguin chicks.

Their next stop was further south in Cierra Cove where they witnessed the Minke and humpback whales feeding on their staple food, the tiny krill. It was cold but they had been fortified by hot chocolate laced with peppermint schnapps. It was a privilege to see the whales swimming among the rusted hulks of whaling ships that once slaughtered the whales by the 1000s. Crossing the Antarctic Circle, they also saw Killer whales with their seven-foot dorsal fins, not often seen this far south.

On the way to the Fish Islands, they saw the many different kinds of ice and learned about the process of making glaciers and icebergs. Then on to the Ellora Islands where they witnessed a "small" group of 3000 Adelie penguins...some groups number in the tens of thousands.

Passing through the Lemaire Channel, they saw more Killer whales, this time the type-B that dive up to 700 meters (2,300' for the Navy folks) for their food. The naturalists observed that the whales were "skinny", perhaps indicating some issues with the food chain that can affect all wildlife in Antarctica.

As a parting exercise, before heading back into the Drake passage for the trip home, the guests were invited to jump into the freezing Antarctic waters, supervised of course. We saw John's mighty leap and recovery-but what was that hat you were wearing? After the frosty dip, the crew plied the guests with some liquid restorative...some taking more than others to recover. All this frivolity to the accompaniment of the Beatles' "All You Need Is Love"...modified to "All You Need Is Krill!". Thanks to John for sharing his adventure with us in the warm confines of Big Red.

Happy Trails!
