A ONE-TIME NEW OPPORTUNITY TO HELP THE FOOD BANK...

Colorado Feeding Kids Meal Packing Event

This Saturday, April 29th at 10 a.m. at the Food Bank on Blue Spruce Drive.

This is an effort started by Kiwanian Ken Bradley of our district to bring Kiwanians of Nor. Colo. Together in a single event to pack meals that are distributed to both Larimer & Weld County Food Banks. Last year they put together over 21,000 meals. The event is sponsored by Encompass Medical Partners.

Our club is signed up to take part. We have indicated we will have about 10 participating. So there is plenty of room for you! Carroll Morony is coordinating this.

Sign up on the sheet in the back so he will know whom to expect. You will be E-mailed a reminder later this week.

UNIMPORTANT TRIVIA YOU PROBABLY DON'T NEED TO KNOW

Why Is an Independent Person, Especially a Great Person, Called a Mugwump?

(Not to be confused with "Muggle" from the Harry Potter genre!)

Mugwump is one of those unusual words that can be used earnestly or facetiously. Some would love to be called mugwumps; others would prefer so calling their enemies. The history of the word is equally ambiguous.

The original mugwumps were a splinter group of the Republican Party in 1884. Refusing to support the presidential nominee of their party, James G. Blaine, mugwumps supported the Democratic Party's nominee, Grover Cleveland. They were dubbed mugwumps by their Republican rivals. Mugwump means "chief" in the Algonquin language, and the word spread among non-Indians, especially in Massachusetts. Obviously, the original non-Indian use of mugwump was sarcastic. The party regulars were accusing the dissenters of self-righteousness and delusions of greatness.

Yet, the mugwumps themselves took the epithet as a badge of honor, a term indicating their integrity and independence. Others have used mugwump to designate a turncoat. But in its narrow, more precise definition ("one who stays within the arms of one party but doesn't vote for the party's candidate"), a mugwump is unlikely to make anybody very happy and is likely to be the butt of ridicule.

As Albert Engel defined a mugwump in 1936, "A mugwump has his mug on one side of the political fence and his wump on the other."

ON TURNING 70:

You can still chase women, but only downhill.

ON TURNING 80:

This is the time of your life when even your birthday suit needs pressing.

ON TURNING 90:

You know you're getting old when the candles cost more than the cake.

ON NEVER WINNING AN OSCAR:

Welcome to the Academy Awards, or, as it's called at my house, "Passover."

ON GOLF:

Golf is my profession. Show business is just to pay the greens fees.

ON RECEIVING THE CONGRESSIONAL GOLD MEDAL:

I feel very humble, but I think I have the strength of character to fight it.

ON HIS SIX BROTHERS:

That's how I learned to dance. Waiting for the bathroom.

TODAY'S CHEMISTRY LESSON

Understanding Engineers #1:

Two engineering students were biking across a university campus when one said, "Where did you get such a great bike?"

The second engineer replied, "Well, I was walking along yesterday, minding my own business, when a beautiful woman rode up on this bike, threw it to the ground, took off all her clothes and said, "Take what you want."

The first engineer nodded approvingly and said, "Good choice: The clothes probably wouldn't have fit you anyway."

UNDERSTANDING ENGINEERS #3

A priest, a doctor, and an engineer were waiting one morning for a particularly slow group of golfers. The engineer fumed, "What's with those guys? We must have been waiting for fifteen minutes!" The doctor chimed in, "I don't know, but I've never seen such inept golf!" The priest said, "Here comes the greens-keeper. Let's have a word with him." He said, "Hello George, What's wrong with that group ahead of us? They're rather slow, aren't they?"

The greens-keeper replied, "Oh, yes. That's a group of blind firemen. They lost their sight saving our clubhouse from a fire last year, so we always let them play for free anytime!"

The group fell silent for a moment. The priest said, "That's so sad. I think I will say a special prayer for them tonight." The doctor said, "Good idea. I'm going to contact my ophthalmologist colleague and see if here's anything she can do for them." The engineer said, "Why the hell can't they play at night?"
