ACTIVITY NAME

Draw a Leader

SUPPLIES NEEDED

- Blank handouts of a body
- Drawing/writing utensils
- White board or large sheet of paper

TIME ESTIMATE

- 30 minutes
- Ideal for facilitating at a K-Kids or Builder's Club meeting

ACTIVITY SUMMARY

Have students draw qualities/write words that they associate with leadership inside of the body. Outside of the body, they can put words/images that are associated with qualities that leaders do not exhibit. Afterwards, you can use a white board or large sheet of paper to combine the ideas of all students while discussing.

PROJECT RESOURCE

Instructions: Inside the body, draw pictures or add words to symbolize qualities a leader should have. On the outside, draw pictures or add words to symbolize qualities that leaders should not have.

DISCUSSION QUESTIONS

Review these questions with the group as a whole. Be sure to allow everyone a chance to speak and share their ideas. Feel free to add any other questions you want to ask as well! The primary point of these questions is to highlight how there is no single leadership style—everyone is different and people look for different qualities in a leader.

- What did everyone think of the activity?
- What sort of qualities were placed inside of the leaders?
(Qualities that leaders have)
 - *Create a list/larger drawing on a white board or large sheet of paper while discussing this
- What sort of qualities were placed outside of the leader's body? (Qualities that leaders do not have)
 - *Create a list/larger drawing on a white board or large sheet of paper while discussing this
- Why do you think everyone had different ideas?
- What does this say about leadership?
- Any other thoughts?
